1906 --- CALENDARS --- 1906

The Rutland health officer's report for the month of November shows that during the month there were reported sixty-two cases of measles, three cases of mumps, two cases of erysipelas, and one case of diphtheria, and several other diseases. There were three deaths during the month, two from old age, and one each from gastritis, intestinal obstruction, cancer of mouth, consumption, asphyxia, pneumonia, diabetes, killed by accident, and unknown.

The month was remarkable for the number of diseases reported, there being a genuine epidemic of measles. Samples of water taken from a well at the factory have been regularly sent to the laboratory of hygiene, for analysis, with generally a favorable report "that the water was safe to use," the last report being the most unfavorable, as the amount of chlorine was beyond the normal.

INSURANCE

Some agents say "The Best Companies," others "The Strongest," and still others "The Largest Companies." I simply say

JOHN W. DILLON, Agent,

Representing $465,490,117.39 assets as per annual statement of companies represented in this agency on January 1, 1903. That tells the whole story. Call and investigate. No risk too large, none too small.

ABOUT THE STATE.

Items of Interest Gleaned from Our Exchanges.

Frederick Dorr Steele, a former resident of Rutland, has just completed a number of artistic sketches which appear in the book, "When You Were a Boy," written by Edward L. Salin. Mr. Steele is the grandson of Mrs. Julia C. R. Door of Rutland.

East Ryegate, which has heretofore been hardly more than a railroad station, seems destined to become a lively village. A dam has been built across the Connecticut river there and a large paper mill will be built. When the mills are in operation about 300 men will be given employment.

Several of the lumbermen in Woodford are delivering large quantities of yellow birch logs to the sawmills of the P. C. White Co. of Bennington. Some of the logs are of enormous size and were cut from trees considerably more than 100 years old, as shown by the annual rings on the logs.

Frank D. Thompson of St. Johnsbury, of the law firm of Porter & Thompson, and State's attorney for Caledonia county, has announced his intention of resigning his position here after the present term of court. He expects to locate in Barton where he will succeed to the practice of his father-in-law, the Hon. William W. Miles, who has been appointed judge of the supreme court. When Mr. Thompson resigns the vacancy in the office of State's attorney will be filled by the court.

Industry for Bellows Falls.

An important deal was consummated during the past week whereby the Robertson Paper company of Bellows Falls has purchased the plant, business, good will, etc., of the Gray-Babcock Paper company of Bennington. The machinery will be returned to Bellows Falls between now and January 1, and about two thirds of it installed in the new addition to the vaxed paper department of the Robertson Paper company. This addition is 30x70 feet, and two stories high. Next season the brick building in front will be raised one story. The company will employ 15 additional hands this winter, and from 20 to 25 probably within a year.

Industry Changes Hands.

D. F. Pollard of Bellows Falls has purchased an interest in the business and will become the local manager of the wrapper factory which was opened last August and was closed three or four weeks ago. The other partner in the company is the Pollard Manufacturing company of Chicago. The local business will be run as the Pollard Manufacturing company. Skirts, waists, shirt waist suits, etc., of the better grade will be manufactured. The third floor of the Conant block is being fitted up for electrical cutting, a competent foreman and designer has been secured and the factory will again be opened in a week or two and it is the intention of the owners to keep it open and running to its capacity.

DEADLY TRADES.

Some Everyday Callings to Follow Which Means Death.

"Tobacco workers are prone to deadly nervous diseases," writes Lawrence Perry in his article, "Industrial Martyrs," in The Technical World Magazine for January. "I have never yet seen a tobacco worker who is not a nervous wreck; who, not of his head," complained the owner of a large Bowery cigar factory. "I don't know why it is; I used to be a worker myself, and I have never recovered from the effects of the trade. Half the time my men are away sick or dying, they are always ill-tempered and flighty, and a public agitation makes idiots of them. I don't know the reason, I said. I was advised to consult a physician and find out."

The foreman in a stone-cutting yard, when questioned, was better informed as to the evils of his trade.

"See those dust clouds all over the yard?" he said. "Consumption there, and quick at that."

Always Opportunity for the Willing.

It is hard to see why a father should be altogether discouraged when his boy announces that he has made up his mind to be an artist. Even if the young man finds out in the course of time that he can't paint pictures, there are always signs and houses.—Somerville Journal.
